4. FRANCIS³ NASH (JOHN², ABNER¹) was born 1742, and died 10 Oct 1777. He married SALLY MOORE Abt. 1770. She was born in North Carolina.

Notes for FRANCIS NASH:
Went to NC and settled at Hillsboro. Active in political and military affairs.

During the Revolutionary War rose to the rank of Brigadier General and was killed at the head of his brigade in the battle of Germantown. His monument stands in simple dignity in the old Mennonite churchyard at Kulpville Pennsylvania.

FRANCIS and his brother Abner moved to Hillsborough (Halifax County NC) in late 1762 or early 1763. Francis invested in a merchantile store. He held , as did his brother Abner, many political offices. He was trained in military affairs by the British government. He was Captain of a militia for a number of years, then passed through the grades until he became colonel of the county.

He represented Orange County in the Assembly of 1770-71 and Hillsborough in 1773.

He was appointed Lt.Col. of the 1st Regiment of the Cont. Line Sept.1, 1775; Col., Apr. 10, 1776. and Brig. Gen. Feb 5, 1777. He fought at the Battle of Trenton and was killed at the Battle of Germantown, PA, where he was wounded and died a few days later. A monument was erected in Germantown in his honor, and the town of Nashville, North Carolina is named for him. (I believe that Nashville, Tennessee, was also named in his honor, but I'm not sure of this.)

The following:

"...Correspondence of the Nash and Mordecai families is also included in the subseries. Frederick Nash was a cousin of Duncan Cameron. Early letters written at Princeton College from 1797 to 1801 are from Frederick Nash to his mother Mary Witherspoon. Letters to Frederick's future wife Mary Kollock of New Jersey from female friends and relatives are also included from 1801 on. By 1805 Frederick and Mary (Kollock) Nash received regular correspondence at their home in New Bern. Their principal correspondents include his sister, Marla Nash, in North Carolina, and her sisters, Sarah Kolbeck and Eliza Ogden, both of New Jersey. In 1807 Nash negotiated the purchase of Duncan Cameron's house in Hillsborough and they moved to that town, where Frederick developed a law practice. The Nash family correspondence continues throughout the subseries....."

11. JOHN⁴ NASH (THOMAS WALKER³, JOHN², ABNER¹) was born 1765 in New Kent Co, VA, and died 1790 in Chowan, NC. He married NESBITT Abt. 1785 in NC. She was born 1764 in NC, and died 1786.

Notes for JOHN NASH:

Might also be known as John Nash III

Orphaned and taken care of by Uncle Abner Nash of New Bern later Governor of NC

Mother ? Holdcroft died in the middle 1760's.

This researcher is speculating the following based on research from different sources gathered.

There was an Abner Nash who took care of his nephew who was orphaned named John. That John married a Nesbit.

Because of hardships in those days I believe Thomas Nash married to Mary? Holdcroft who died right after John was born left him with his Uncle Abner in New Bern NC. John's sister Mary Holdcroft Nash was married in 1775 at Uncle Abner's Home in New Bern, NC.

Thomas's 3rd wife was from Chowan Co NC. which is where John later died probably to be near his father he later discovered which also may be where Thomas brought the 3 children who has little or no data on. Elizabeth, John and Henry.

Recap events: Thomas had 4 children with a Holdcroft. His wife died about the time John was born +/- 2 years

Thomas moved to Edenton, Chowan Co, NC and enlisted the help of his brother Abner Nash who was living in Chowan Co.

John later married a Nesbit. His child John Nesbit Nash was orphaned because John died when John Nesbit Nash was about 4 years old and since we have no firm data on his Nesbit wife we don't know why John Nesbit Nash was cared for by his Uncle Samuel Nesbit. I do know that Mary Nash Nesbit is not directly related to John Nesbitt Nash. This source is in a book by Sarah M. Nash. Using this source I have been tracing events and times. It appears That the 2 different Nash families who may be related back in England met in upper NC around Caswell and Orange counties. Later moved toward Laurens SC and that is when John Nesbitt Nash was born in Anson Co next to the NC/SC border. There was a John Nesbitt in Anson Co. about the same time John Nesbitt Nash was born. It is possible John Nesbitt Nash was left with Samuel Nesbitt who is married to Mary Nash daughter of Edward Nash and Elizabeth Miles.

Further research with the Nesbit family may reveal the locations and stories of Samuel Nesbit and wife Mary Nash in NC during that time period. I'm thinking it could be a Jane Nesbit as John's wife. Highly possible John may not have actually married explaining why his son was orphaned. Another theory is that his wife died in childbirth. John Nesbit Nash's first daughter is named Mary Jane Nash. Mary could be from his Aunt Mary Nash Nesbit and Jane from his mother or Aunt Jane Nesbit if one existed. John Nesbit Nash's second daughter is named Nancy Nash. John Nesbit Nash had 12 children.

Notes for NESBITT:

Hypothesis indicates this Nesbitt female's name is either Jane or Nancy. This researcher is inclined to think Jane as John Nesbitt Nash's first daughter is Mary Jane and the second daughter is Nancy.

Since he was raised by his Aunt Mary Nash is where Mary would be from and Jane is a Nesbitt married in 1822 to a Jacob Humble. Finding a Nancy in the Nesbitt line b~1764 would be helpful.

There is also a possibility this Nesbit died in child birth.

Notes for DUNCAN CAMERON:

Ref: http://www.lexisnexis.com/academic/guides/southern_hist/plantations/plantj1.asp

Duncan Cameron was born on December 15, 1777, in Mecklenburg County, Virginia. His father John Cameron was an Anglican minister and a recent immigrant from Scotland who had married well. John Cameron's wife was Ann Owen Nash, a daughter of Colonel Thomas Nash, one of the King's attorneys. Her uncle Abner Nash was a governor of North Carolina during the Revolution, her uncle Francis Nash was a general in the Revolution, and her maternal grandfather was Colonel Clement Read, a King's attorney.

Duncan Cameron was educated by his father, who in addition to being a minister ran several academies in the parishes he served in Virginia. After studying the law under Paul Carrington, Duncan Cameron was licensed to practice in 1797. He immediately moved to North Carolina, first to Warrenton, then Martinsville, finally settling in Hillsborough in 1799. Cameron was an ambitious and capable lawyer who soon prospered. Like Bennehan, Duncan Cameron invested in land and slaves.

Cameron's success as a lawyer marked him for the bench and he served as superior court judge from 1814 to 1816. He also served several terms in the North Carolina House in 1806, 1807, 1812, and 1813. He then served three terms in the state Senate in 1819, 1822, and 1823. While in the Senate Cameron served as chairman of the influential Committee on Internal Improvements, which had originally been led by Cameron's friend Archibald Murphey. Duncan Cameron's civic service was not limited to politics and law. In 1812 he was appointed major general of the North Carolina Militia and served in that capacity until 1814. He, like Bennehan, was a devoted friend of the University of North Carolina, serving on the Board of Trustees from 1802 to 1853.

Cameron was instrumental in the development of the Episcopal Church in North Carolina in the 1820s. In 1833 he bought the defunct Episcopal School for Boys in Raleigh, reestablishing it with the Reverend Aldert Smedes as its director. In 1841 the school became St. Mary's, an Episcopal girls' school, with Reverend Aldert Smedes again as director. The school remained in Cameron family hands until it was sold to the Episcopal Diocese of North Carolina in 1897. Duncan Cameron also helped to establish Christ Church in Raleigh and built Salem Chapel at Fairtosh, which provided a place for family and slaves to worship.

When the State Bank of North Carolina formed in 1811, Duncan Cameron was one of its first directors, and in 1829 he accepted its presidency. Later the bank was dissolved and reformed as the Bank of the State of North Carolina. Cameron served as president of the new bank from 1834 until his resignation in 1849.

Cameron was also a successful businessman. He formed a number of partnerships with various family members to run stores in North Carolina and Virginia. The most important of these partnerships were those with his father-in-law Richard Bennehan and brother-in-law Thomas D. Bennehan. The first was a limited partnership drawn in 1806 giving Thomas D. Bennehan and Duncan Cameron a share in the management and profits of the store, opened by Richard Bennehan in 1802, at Fishdam Ford on the Neuse River. The second partnership, drawn in 1807, was more extensive. It combined the Bennehan and Cameron plantations, slaves, stores, and four, and saw mills into one powerful and profitable enterprise. The plantations and stores were managed by the Bennehans, while Cameron provided his legal and financial expertise to the business. Cameron was also involved in a partnership beginning in 1802 with his step-nephew George Anderson, establishing a store in Hillsborough, which later was moved to Madinsville, Virginia. In the 1810s Cameron started a commission merchant firm in Petersburg with his brother, William Cameron, and Samuel Snow. These and other business ventures of Duncan Cameron were largely unsuccessful unlike the lucrative partnership with Richard and Thomas D. Bennehan.

Rebecca and Duncan Cameron had eight children: Mary Anne born in 1804, Thomas Amis Dudley in 1806, Paul Carrington in 1808, Margaret Bain in 1811, Rebecca Bennehan in 1813, Jean Syme in 1815, Anne Owen in 1817, and Mildred Coles born in 1820. Of the eight children, only Paul and Margaret married.

The Cameron girls were educated at home by governesses, the most popular of whom was Mary McLean Bryant, corresponding with the family long after she left the Cameron's employ. Only Mary Anne, the eldest, went to school. She attended Jacob Mordecai's seminary in Warrenton, North Carolina, from 1814 to 1818. Mary Anne, Rebecca, Jean, and Anne contracted tuberculosis. Despite trips to various springs and a journey to South Carolina, Georgia, and Florida, made in hopes of curing or arresting the disease, the girls succumbed one by one during 1840. Mildred escaped tuberculosis, but fell prey to an undiagnosed disease that left her partially paralyzed. She travelled to Philadelphia and New York to consult with doctors about a cure, but the doctors' efforts were to no avail. Mildred remained an invalid throughout her adult life, with the burden of her care falling on her sister Margaret. Mildred died in 1881. Following the death of her mother in 1843, Margaret Bain Cameron lived at home until she was forty-two, caring for her sick siblings and her ailing father and managing the household. Then, upon the death of her father in 1853, she married George W. Mordecai, president of the State Bank of North Carolina, who had succeeded Duncan Cameron when he resigned the post in 1849. Margaret and George Mordecai were childless except for a stillbirth in 1854. Even after her marriage, Margaret continued to care for her sister Mildred. She accompanied Mildred on medical consultations to Philadelphia and New York, which took Margaret away from her husband for months at a time.

Child of ELIZA NASH and ROBERT OGDEN is:

- i. ABNER NASH⁵ OGDEN, b. 19 Sep 1809, Hillsboro, NC; d. 1875, Bladen Springs, AL; m. MARY ISABELLA SMITH.

Notes for ABNER NASH OGDEN:

JUDGE ABNER NASH OGDEN (2052) very early in life gave evidence of pronounced mental strength and unusual talent. He made such rapid progress in his education, that at the age of 14, he became tutor in the family of Judge Alfred Hennon of the Southern bar, at the same time studying law in the offices of the Judge. He was admitted to practice at the age of 17, and did so in partnership with his brother Judge Robert Nash Ogden²⁰⁴⁹ at Baton Rouge, La. His remarkable genius soon led him to a brilliant career at the bar, and when only 32 years of age he was elected Judge of the Supreme Court of Louisiana, successfully defeating a prominent Democratic candidate. Nothing could have better evinced the confidence and esteem in which he was held by the people of the state. He was called "The Model Lawyer of the Louisiana Bar."

In politics he was an old line Whig, and used his utmost influence to keep Louisiana in the Union, but after the ordinance of secession was passed, he joined with his people and threw his heart and soul into the movement for a new confederacy, giving four sons to fight for the cause.

His later years were saddened by the loss of his eyesight, and the general breaking down of his overtaxed though robust constitution. Yet he lived to see his children's children and "in a high sense of the scriptural phrase 'Peace upon Israel.' He died at Bladen Springs, Ala., in 1875, with that profession upon his lips which confesses eternal life."

His first wife, MARY ISABELLA (Smith) OGDEN, and mother of his first two children, was a descendant of Rev. Jedediah Smith, the first Presbyterian minister ever in Natchez, Miss. He had been pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Granville, Mass., for 18 years, when he determined upon a mission to the Mississippi valley. He set out with his wife and eleven children in Apr., 1776, and in the following September reached Natchez, only to die ten days after his arrival. The family had suffered great hardships on their journey, and greater sufferings upon reaching their destination, but it was a school from which they developed great strength of character, and their descendants are now among the most numerous, wealthy and respected families of the states of Louisiana and Mississippi.

"...Correspondence of the Nash and Mordecai families is also included in the subseries. Frederick Nash was a cousin of Duncan Cameron. Early letters written at Princeton College from 1797 to 1801 are from Frederick Nash to his mother Mary Witherspoon. Letters to Frederick's future wife Mary Kollock of New Jersey from female friends and relatives are also included from 1801 on. By 1805 Frederick and Mary (Kollock) Nash received regular correspondence at their home in New Bern. Their principal correspondents include his sister, Marla Nash, in North Carolina, and her sisters, Sarah Kolbeck and Eliza Ogden, both of New Jersey. In 1807 Nash negotiated the purchase of Duncan Cameron's house in Hillsborough and they moved to that town, where Frederick developed a law practice. The Nash family correspondence continues throughout the subseries...."

20. JOHN NESBITT⁵ NASH (JOHN⁴, THOMAS WALKER³, JOHN², ABNER¹) was born 19 Jan 1786 in Anson, NC, and died 22 Mar 1864 in Clayton, Henry Co, GA. He married (1) HANNAH HARRIET ABERCROMBIE 1804 in Greenville, SC, daughter of COLEVILLE ABERCROMBIE and MARY LINDLEY. She was born 04 Feb 1786 in Laurens, SC, and died 02 Mar 1840 in Clayton, Henry Co, GA. He married (2) MARY BOLT 07 Jul 1840 in Henry Co, GA. She was born 1801, and died 1870.

Notes for JOHN NESBITT NASH:

Raised by Aunt Mary Nash and Uncle Samuel Nesbit per Sarah M. Nash of Fountain Inn SC in her book Ancestors and Decendants written in 1972.

There has been some debate on which Nash line he has come from since he was raised by Uncle Samuel Nesbit and Aunt Mary Nash Nesbit. Since he was born in Anson Co NC and Mary Nash and her Nash line had not been in Anson Co it is doubtful he is of her Nash Line. Mary Nash is descended from Edward Miles Nash.

41. CASSIE CARLOLINE⁶ NASH (JOHN NESBITT⁵, JOHN⁴, THOMAS WALKER³, JOHN², ABNER¹) was born 28 Jan 1819 in Laurens, SC, and died 13 May 1899 in Hampton, Henry Co., GA. She married JOHN WALLACE 1841 in Henry Co, GA. He was born Abt. 1808 in Ireland, and died 19 Apr 1891 in Henry Co Ga.

Notes for CASSIE CARLOLINE NASH:

Cassie's birth is seen in several sources differently but her death is consistent. In the book First Families of Henry County Lida A Nash Neisler states her Birth as 28 Jan 1819. A transcript of the cemetery where she is buried shows birth as 29 Jun 1819. A post in the News Forum by Lynn shows birth as 21 Jan 1818. All of these could be typos. She was born in Laurens SC. I need to get verification from Laurens to expose the real date. If I can't find a birth record I will use the headstone date 6/29/1819 which should be verified with a visit.

Notes for LAURA MAE HAND:

I think there is a record that shows Conkle Cem. Henry, GA also.

I have cemetery plot drawings done by her son Alfred Nash Sr.

Cemetery located on Quail Rd off Mt Carmel Rd between Lake Erma and Mt Carmel Rd

Mt Carmel Church is very near by.

Directions: From I-75 exit Jonesboro Rd and head west. Take 3rd left (head south) continue past fork merge. Take next right (head west) onto Mt Carmel Rd and about 1/10 mile Quail Rd (dirt head north) on right. Cemetery will be on the right before dead end.

Most of cemetery is run down and total size is 196' by 98' (0.42 Acres) Laura is buried in fenced in area 54' by 28' next to road.

Cemetery is grown over in most places and in need of repair.

Tax records in 1986 showed land belonged to Margi Mitchell.
